COMPANY AS A BASE ELEMENT OF AN ECONOMIC ACTIVITY

One of the main features of the business is its organization, which is fully expressed by a company understood as a set of assets used by the entity in order to perform economic activities. This set of assets should be organized itself while the creation of a company and keeping it "in motion" require actions of mainly organizational character. The organization of economic activity in the form of a company shall mean, as it seems, the existence of interdependence between leading an economic activity and leading a company. The creation of a company reflects the actual preparation for starting a business. As a result every economic activity is carried out using a company and every entrepreneur is equipped with a company.
